

Senator Sessions recently highlighted on the Senate floor several of the crazy provisions being considered in the Senate in regards to Illegal Immigration. Read some of his comments below:

Craziness #1: Under this provision, illegal aliens would enjoy in-state tuition rates nationwide.

Craziness #2: Absconders and some individuals with felonies or three misdemeanors are not barred from getting amnesty.

[The Kyl-Cornyn amendment that was blocked by the other side so we couldn't get a vote on it, was designed to fix this loophole.]

Craziness #3: Aliens specifically barred from receiving immigration benefits for life because they filed a frivolous asylum application will also be able to receive amnesty.

Craziness #4: All aliens who are subject to a final order of removal or who are subject to the reinstatement of a final order of removal because they illegally reentered after being ordered removed from the United States are also eligible for amnesty. This means that the aliens who have already received their day in court have had their case fully litigated, and they have been ordered removed and have failed to depart will now be rewarded for not following the law and leaving like they were ordered to do. They will qualify for this amnesty.

Craziness #5: This bill allows aliens who have persecuted anyone on account of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group or political opinion get amnesty. It fails to make persecutors ineligible for amnesty.

Craziness #6: Proof of work? If you can just have a reasonable inference that you have worked, get a document from a day labor center let's say, you meet the work requirements. Everybody will meet it. No illegal alien will be left behind. The invitation for fraud is clear.

Craziness #7: Many of the things in the legislation that are good, that call for increased Border Patrol officers or increased detention space, are not funded. We have not appropriated the money. When this legislation passes, which gives legal status to millions, we have no guarantee that any Congress will ever fund border control and security adequately. They have not yet.
